

Yoh Hospital Grand Opening Speech
By Peter Yeh representing Yeh's family
November 23, 2011

My Dearest Friends,Ladies and Gentlemen:

How are you today ? Thank you for coming here to celebrate with us the grand opening of this new hospital.

I assumed that every one here knows who Albert Einstein was. He was a very famous Nobel Prize winning physicist.

Einstein was one of the greatest scientists who has ever lived. When he was asked about his monumental achievements, Einstein spoke only of giving thanks to others. He said "A hundred times every day I remind myself that my inner and outer life depend on the labors of other men, living and dead...". Einstein just humbly said "Thank You".

We are gathering here today for the most noble reason to express our deepest gratitude towards each and every one of you who have helped my brother and his wife to accomplish their dreams. It will never be enough for us to say "Thank you".

My younger "Doctor" brother is a dreamer. A dreamer will never succeed unless he follows his heart to the full. Ten years ago today November 23, 2001 my brother opened his first clinic to practice medicine. Today the brand new hospital is standing in front of us. It is truly their dream came true.

Today we celebrate the opening of this new hospital with love and joy. We are so proud of my brother,his wife,son and daughter as a family. We not only see the modern-day new medical technology but we also witness the most magnificent flow of love around this hospital. We firmly believe that this hospital will serve the communities to the best.

We were born and raised at a small village of Hualien in Eastern Part of Taiwan by the hard-working parents. This hospital(葉記念病院) is in memory of our father who taught us to endure, to work hard, to love people and to be thrifty.

When my brother graduated from the No 1 university in Taiwan, the National Taiwan University, it was this great country called Japan which welcomed my brother and his wife to go after their dreams. It was a long and painful life experiences for the then young couple.

The people in this great country treated them extremely well. They started to have their son and daughter. They assimilated themselves into Japanese culture and the way how to live here in this great land. They have their roots deeply planted in this land of prosperity. We salute to this great country of Japan and the wonderful Japanese people for their endless loves towards my brother's family. Again thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

My mother is extremely excited and happy to be here. My uncle and my aunt are also coming to witness this joyful moment with each of us. My elder brother, his wife and my sister, too. They are all coming from Taiwan. As for myself I am from Atlanta, Georgia of USA. We, YEH family, will never never forget this very special occasion on this day of November 23 of 2011. Although our dad was passed away, he could not be physically present at this moment. We do believe that he is now watching over us high there in the heaven.

Love is the highest frequency in the universe. It is this great love that brought us together to celebrate this very meaningful and special moment. Once again we want to say thank you for your coming. Please keep on giving my brother and his family encouragement, support and love! Good luck and Thank you !
